Come As You Are
Idaho Wine – Its Time Has Come

Known for its breathtaking wilderness and, perhaps more famously, for its potatoes, Idaho is also home to a fast-growing wine industry and fantastic wines. Nestled between the Rocky Mountains and the Snake River, Idaho wine regions nurture the grapes with a moderate climate, limited precipitation, and a consistent growing season that adds complexity to the grapes. The characteristically cold winters allow vines to go dormant gradually while ridding the plants of bugs and discouraging disease. A combination of cold nights and hot days serves to balance acids and sugars. The limited amount of rainfall allows growers to control water through irrigation.

Idaho is known for growing and producing classic varieties including Syrah, Merlot, Riesling and Chardonnay, along with more adventurous wines such as Tempranillo and Malbec.
Idaho’s WINE ROOTS

Idaho is considered, by some, part of the new frontier of wine-growing areas of the United States. However, some of the first grapes planted in the Pacific Northwest were actually grown in Lewiston in the 1860’s.

Ancient Lake Idaho is formed, stretching 200 miles from eastern Oregon to Twin Falls.

An article dated September 5, 1865 in the Idaho Statesman reported that a vineyard of Royal Muscadine cuttings had been planted early in the spring of the previous year (1864) and it had survived the winter well and was beginning to produce grapes in Lewiston.

Prohibition halts the wine industry across the country with the 18th Amendment.

Prohibition ends with the 21st Amendment being ratified on December 5, 1933.

The state’s largest winery Ste. Chapelle Winery opens.

Boise State University completes economic impact study finding that the Idaho wine industry has a $73 million economic impact.

The Idaho Grape Growers & Wine Producers Commission is formed.

Idaho's Idaho is considered, by some, part of the new frontier of wine-growing areas of the United States.

Idaho Wine Commission
Snake River Valley
SOUTHWESTERN IDAHO WINE REGION

The Snake River Valley American Viticultural Area (AVA), approved in April of 2007, encompasses 8,263 square miles with 1,125 acres planted. Overlaying the ancient Lake Idaho, the shoreline creates its natural boundaries. The result is a distinctive grape-growing region whose ancient volcanic sediment has bestowed fertile, well-draining soil that gives growers better control throughout the grape-growing process.

Visitors can explore the heart of the Idaho wine country with stops along the Sunnyslope Wine Trail!
Plan your visit at SUNNYSLOPEWINETRAIL.COM

Lewis-Clark Valley
NORTHERN IDAHO WINE REGION

The Lewis-Clark Valley American Viticultural Area (AVA), approved in April of 2016, encompasses 479 square miles with more than 81 vineyard acres currently planted. Lewis-Clark Valley AVA is made up of steep canyons of the Clearwater and mid-Snake Rivers and their tributaries.

The Lewis-Clark Valley AVA is home to premium vines and award-winning wines. Plan your visit at LEWISCLARKWINE.COM
The Eagle Foothills Grape Growers Association’s purpose is to promote the interests of the local wine grape growing industry with a focus on the Eagle Foothills AVA.

More information at EAGLEGRAPEGROWERS.ORG

EAGLE FOOTHILLS SOUTHWESTERN IDAHO WINE REGION

The Eagle Foothills American Viticultural Area (AVA), approved in November 2015, encompasses 49,815 acres with 80 acres planted currently. This sub-AVA of the larger Snake River Valley AVA is the only one located completely within the state of Idaho. Nestled in the foothills north of Eagle, Idaho, the slope and aspect of the Eagle Foothills play an important role in sunlight reception, cold air drainage, frost and wind protection.
